PERSONAL INFORMATION

Hey there! I'm Shivani, a passionate student,studying in stanley college of engineering &technology for women.

As a student of CSE, I've been exploring the interest in exploring new ideas and the secret behind the world. My academic journey has been a blend of rigorous coursework, hands-on projects, and a thirst for knowledge.

Outside the classroom, I've been involved in sports, college events. These experiences have not only shaped my skills but also my character, teaching me the value of life.

My hobbies are reading story books , cooking , spending time with people and coming to part of goals be a better person and well settled.